A DeesWatch Update on "Prophet Lampley":

"Three Arrested in Bomb Plot"

"Oklahoma City (AP, 12 November 1995)-- The FBI has arrested three people on charges of plotting to build a fertilizer bomb that authorities believe would have been targeted at a white separatist religious community. Ray Willie Lampley, 65, his wife, Cecilia Lampley, 47, and John Dare Baird, 53, were arrested Saturday at the Lampley's home in Vernon, 90 miles east of Oklahoma City. Assistant U.S. Attorney Doug Horn said the three are charged with conspiracy to manufacture and possess a destructive device. They were being held without bond and will appear in federal court Monday.

The arrests were not connected to the April 19 bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City, authorities said. McIntosh County Sheriff Bobby Gray told the Sunday Oklahoman that Lampley touts himself "as some kind of prophet" and "has been sending letters to certain people-- the president, the governor in Texas, and even I got some-- that we were going to be dead within a certain amount of time." Investigators told Gray, he said, that Elohim City was a purported target. The white separatist community of about 100 people is in eastern Oklahoma near the Arkansas border. Gray said the FBI recovered bomb-making materials from a back room in the Lampley's house but apparently did not find an assembled bomb.

Federal authorities would not comment further."

DessWatch Commentary: Many folks will remember his pronouncements upon the subject of "uncircumcised dogs" among other things. Brother Lampley showed up at the National Militia Commander's Seminar last month in Texas put on by Tri-States Militia Network and hosted by the Texas Constitutional Militia. Upon his arrival, he was roundly denounced by speakers both on and off the podium and he left shortly afterward, not to return. Tri-States, among others, (including this writer) have publicly denounced him for the slime he pushes. He has never been more than a bit player on the fringe of the Constitutional Militia movement and his recent denunciation of the Constitution as a rag was accepted by Tri-States (among others) as a public announcement of what we long knew-- that Lampley never had been a member of the Constitutional Militia movement, but had been using it to troll for recruitable demi-prophet's who would buy into his sick philosophy. Morris Dees, take note: if you mention Lampley as a member of the same Constitutional Militia movement which has denounced and expelled him, and name groups who have always opposed him as being friendly to him, expect to get sued in as many states as you push that lie in. Sooner or later you'll get an unsympathetic local jury to stick you with a $70 million dollar judgement. Only thing is, unlike poor Mrs. Donald (who you shafted so royally), whoever wins that suit will get a fortune. Don't you agree? News organizations who wish background information on "Prophet" Lampley are urged to contact Tri-States Militia Network, who (I am informed) are offering copies of correspondence between this antisemitic nutburger and the real militia movement. -- Mike Vanderboegh, DeesWatch.
